The Model 500 magazine facilitates easy barrel changes, as the barrel bolt serves no function other than holding the barrel in place.. The Model 500 magazines are closed at the muzzle end, and the barrel is held in place by bolting into a threaded hole at the end of the magazine tube.. The factory scope base is attached to the barrel via a cantilever -type mount, which places the scope over the receiver but keeps it with the barrel if the barrel is removed.. The magazine spring and follower may be removed by unscrewing the tube from the receiver (this may be difficult on some new 500s).. This level of field stripping is sufficient to allow all components to be cleaned.. Originally using a single action bar that was known to bind and even break, this was changed to dual action bars in 1970, following the expiration of Remingtons patent on the double action bar design.. Some models come with a matte black matte-anodized receiver, and a matte blued barrel.. A special model called the Mariner is available with the Marinecote finish, an electroless-nickel finish that is highly corrosion resistant. cea114251b Sql Microsoft Server Management Studio For Mac
